SOUTH OMAHA'S GREAT RIDER.

Irand Inspector Betham Proves Himself a Great Broncho Buster.

HE RODE A WILD COLORADO CAYUSE.

Hasher Muggins Held for Robbing Stockman Olson-Cold Flunge of a Drug Clerk-Magic City Miniatures.

There was fun galore at the stock yards vesterday morning over a bet involving the riding of a wild, fiery steed from Colorado.

A shipper from that state had brought in a bunch of about eighty horses, and in the presence of Mark Betham, state brand inspector of Colorado, and B. Saunders, purchaser for the Hammond Packing company, remarked that there was one horse in the group that notody had ever been able to ride. Inspector Betham remarked that he believed that he could ride the animal, whereupon Saunders shook a $5 bill in his face with the remark that he couldn't, and that piece of rag money would be his if he could. Betham accepted the bet and put up a five to cover accepted the bet and put up a five to cover Saunders' money. Brand Inspector Talbot of Wyoming held the stakes.

The news spread quickly through the yards and even up town, and a great crowd gathered to witness the sport.

Betham put on a pair of chops, secured a lariat and accompanied by Mr. Reed, a cowboy, rode into the enclosure. The first throw of the lariat into the surging mass of wild steeds merely struck the intended victim on the side of the neck. While on the swing preparatory for the next throw, the lasso slipped over Betham's head. The crowd jeered and the inspector good naturedly remarked that it was a horse on him. At the fourth throw the rope fell over the steed's neck, although he was in the center of the nerd. The crowd then sent up a loud cheer. Then followed a succession of plunges and rearing by the captured animal, but in about ten minutes he and pretty well tired himself out. The inspector's pony proved a valuable ally meanwhile by his intelligence.

Betham shifted the end of the lariat over to his cowboy companion and, dismounting walked slowly toward the only partially subdued "critter," whose eyes, by the way, were the most wicked looking in the herd. Betham slowly advanced toward the animal talking coaxingly and in a short time had his hand on the pony's head. In a few more minutes the lariat was gradually transformed into a halter on the steed and then a series of tactics were commenced to accus tom the animal to a saddle. A blanket was touched a number of times to his side and buck and finally dropped on the back. By equally cautious moves the horse was blind-folded with a handkerchief and was then suddled and bridled. The blind was then removed and the animal led to the open space near the exchange building. While the cowboy held the animal by the bit Betham vanied into the saidle and seized the reins, wrapping them around his hands. The cowboy jumped to one side and the great circus then commenced. Such rearing, plunging, kicking, bucking, run-ning, side veering and other antics characteristic of the broncho have not been seen here since pioneer days. The crowd yelled uself hourse and ran after the steed and rider as they dashed hither and thither. Betham stuck to the animal as though he was glued to it, and in about a quarter of an hour the steed began evidently to believe that he was a centaur instead of a horse and accepted the situation.

After witnessing the spectacle the stockmen from western points swore by Betham, and when somebody suggested that the horse had propably been ridden before, they offered to bet $100, or even $1,000, that Betham could ride any horse in the en-

Muggius' Trial.

The trial of H. P. Muggins, the lunch counter waiter, charged with robbing Stockman Olson, was held before Pelice Judge King and consumed the greater portion of the day. Muggins proved a better witness against himself than any the state produced. The evidence in the aggregate showed that Muggins had early in the evening remarked to Saloonkeepers Fenton and Chambers that he had to go out to get some money. When asked if somebody owed him money he answered "no." Later he returned to the saloons run by Fenton and Chambers exhibiting a roll of bills. In his testimony Muggins said that John son, the missing Swede crook, had offered him $60 if he would keep his mouth shut concerning the robbery of the stockman, but he had received no money from Johnson. Grace had received no money from Jonnson. Grace Russell, the loose woman known as "Muggins' mash," testified that Muggins had of-fered ner $60, but as she was afraid that she might get arrested she did not keep it, Ithough at first she took the money.

Muggins was put under $1,000 bonds to appear before the district court. Grace Rus-

The accused man protested his innocence of any crime and the case will be given an airing before Justice Breen this foreneon. Mrs. Offerman says that she left her horse tied in her stable Thursday night, but yesterday morning he was missing. As she had had some trouble with Breaden about the payment of a bill, she suspected that the horse was taken by him. An investigation proved that the horse was in his stable and she caused the farmer's arrest.

Narrowly Escaped Drowning. Francis Lyman, the drug clerk at Seykora's store, while out skating on Harwood lake, broke through the ice and was given a cold bath in the chilly waters. He sank clear out of sight, and in rising again struck against the ice. Had he lost his self posses-sion he might have been drowned, but instead he groped with his hands until he found the edge of the ice and lifted himself into the air. The ice was strong enough to support his weight, and he clambered out with great difficulty. He was badly chilled before he reached home, but is thankful that he has escaped with nothing more than a severe

Our readers will notice the advertisements in these columns of Chamberlain & Co., Des Moines, Iowa. Competition trembles when Hayden Bros. open prices on pianos and organ. It has often been remarked that the American people do not pay sufficient attention to the physical development of their children; that our colleges and schools do not encourage athletic exercises to the same extent as in similar institutions in Europe, and that in consequence, as a rule, the native born American, while he enters upon the serious business of life fully equipped mentally, is often lacking in that bodity strength so necessary to complete health of body and mind. Of late, however, there has been a marked change in this respect and athletic sports are year by year becoming more popular. One of the latest additions is the game of foot ball. This is a thoroughly health-producing sport, and at the same time requires considerable skill before it can be played successfully. When all the points are thoroughly understood it is an interesting game not only to the players, but also to spectators. In Sunday's BEE A. A. Stagg, an expert, gives a clear and concise description of how to play the game, with a full explanation of the technical terms. Those who believe in healthy outdoor exercises should not fail to read this article.

The Old and the New. "Of course it hurts, but you must grin and bear it," is the old time consolation given to persons troubled with rheumanism. "If you will take the trouble to dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it over the seat of pain your rheuma-tism will disappear," is the modern and much more satisfactory advice. 50 cent botties for sale by druggists.

The public should be warrent the numerou so called "gold cures" for drunkenness and other habits that are springing up in this as well as other states. The wonderful success of Dr. Keeley's Double Chloride of Gold cure has opened the way for these frauds and impostors to fleece their victims, and it usually falls on those who can ill afford to stand the loss. Their money is extorted from them while under the influence of liquor and they are compelled to take the worthless treatment or lose the money paid. Several persons who intended to take the Keeley treatment have, while under the influence of drink, fallen into the hands of these sharpers. Worthless guarantees are sometimes given to each victim. People who intend to take the Keeley treatment, or in sending their friends who are apt to be under the influence of drink, should send their names and neces-sary money for expenses direct to the Keeley institute, Blair, Neb., who will receipt for all money received and look after the patients after treatment is commenced. #### THE DEEP WATER HARBOR.

The Finest Opportunities Offered to Wholesalers and Manufacturers.

UNSURPASSED. CLIMATE IS

Grand Public Opening of the Harbor of Valasco, Texas, Dec. 15th, 1891 -Low Excursion Rates, Good Until June 1st, 1892.

Mr. Frank Lerch of Texas was met ast night bp a BEE reporter who obtained from him the following facts concerning Velasco, the first and only deep water harbor west of the Mississippi.

"Velasco," Mr. Lerch said, "is destined to be the most important city in the southwest. That 'deep water is the basis of commercial greatness is a proposition admitted by all.' When the first deep draught vessel entered the harbor of Velasco and demonstrated to the world at large that deep water was no longer a promise, but had become an accomplished fact, the future of Velasco was assured. Situated as it is, no better point for the location of a great commercial center could have been It is the gateway to the Central and South American republics. The reciprocity policy of the government is opening the trade of these rich countries or American commerce. There is no doubt that American enterprise will soon avail itself of these new fields so recently opened, A remunerative exchange trade can be established with comparatively little effort. Velasco, Texas, will import the sugar, coffee, rice and jute produced by our southern neighbors and export therefor the flour, wheat, corn, pork, bacon and beef of the trans-Mississppi states and save a percentage of freight charges large to the producer. The Brazos River Channel and Dock Co. realizing the importance of the enterprise inaugurated by them, are laying the foundations of the new city broad and deep. They have built commodious wharves to accommodate the commerce that will doubtless rush to the new city to avail itself of the advantages offered. They have erected a new hotel at a cost of $70,000.00; they have about completed a railroad connecting Velasco with Houston, the great southwestern railroad center, and practically giving the mor-chants of Velasco the choice of 13 different lines of railroad. That the importance of the new seaport is being appreciated by the public at large is abundantly demonstrated by the fact that Velasco, only 100 days old, is today a bustling city of over 2,000 in-habitants with ample banking facilities. "Wholesalers and manufacturers are especially invited to examine the advantages offered by the new city on the gulf and are requested to address the Brazos River Channel and Dock Co. for particulars.

"For a winter resort no point offers superior advantages to the denizens of the frozen regions of the north than Volasco. Located within three miles of the ever changing sea it has a climate where the sun shines 12 months during the year, where fresh flowers and vegetables can be placed on the table every day; where the sea furnishes, in great variety and abundance, systers unsurpassed in quality, crabs and shrimps that must be tasted in order to be appreciated, and salt and fresh water | the place to get fish in endless variety. The forests and prairies abound with game of all kindss The hotel accommedations are equal to any in the west. The beach, 15 miles in length, unsurpassed in the United States, furnishes a drive unequalled for gran-

dear anywhere. The low excursion rates that have been obtained put it within the reach of all to exchange the snow and lee of the north for the summer land of the south, to feast on the oranges, strawberries cape jessamines and roses that abound in sunny southland.

The projectors of the enterprise at the Brazo's mouth started by saying that they would not offer any property for sale until they had made a deep water

They have kept their promise, and have refused to sell property, although constantly importuned to do so. Now, having accomplished their undertaking they invite all the world to come and examine the great work and judge for themselves if an investment will be safe, and if values are not certain to increase

NATURE'S MATCHLESS REMEDY FOR Rheumatism, Gravel, Gout, Dyspepsia. Bright's Disease, And all Kidney and Bladder Troubles. Nothing else has yet been offered the public that has

Rheumatic Gout,

Office of Dr. E. B. Merey, Physician and J. Surgeon, WAVERLY, N. Y., Dec. 31, 1810. GENTLEMEN: I wish to report to you what seems me a remarkable cure of the most as grivated casa f Rheumatic Gout that I have e er seen. The patient, Mr. Fred Fitzgerald, aged about 28 years weight Ha pounds, nervous tem terament, complexion blonde, habit state, by occupation a machinist, presented him elf for treatment August 18, 1890. He had contracted Rheumatism some five years ago, while living in Kansas, and since that time has been practically laid up every fall and winter with this discuse, which did not fail to make its appear not with the cold and damp weather. He complained of pain in the left knee, ankles and joints, of the great toes, particularly the left, which was much inclaimed and considerably deformed from previous attacks. The pain was almost unbearable. I tred successively various remetles for this complaint without any apparent benefit, as he was scarcely able to walk across the floor—much less to resume his work. To be brief, I wrote to you about the case, and at your suggestion orered three cases still LONDONDERRY LITHIA SPHING WATER. It was delivered to Mr. Fitzgerald September 22. Marked Improvement began at once, and in about a month he returned to his work n the Lebigh Valley car shops, Sometime before e had exhau-ted his supply of water he told me that he had already gained 24 pounds in weight, and was still gaining. By the time the water was gone he was about as well as ever, though we have had a great deal of rain thiz fall and much unfavorable venther for persons of a rheamatic disthesis. I have never seen a greater change for the good in man in so short a time. Most respectfully, E. B. MOREY, M. D.

A Lyan Druggist Cured of Gravel. LVNN, Mass., Dec. 1, 1890 For years I have been passing stones from the kidneys, like those I sent you. I have been informed that they are of uric acid formation. During all this time I have suffered from a most distreeing cystitis, induced, no doubt, by the presence in the urine of uric acid crystals. Medicine gave only temporary ratiof. At the suggestion of a physician I began the use of the Landon Dennix Lithita WATER. The effect was most surprising. The in tense suffering, the bloody mucus, the gravelly urine and all the old symptoms of aric acid, crys tals and calcult have disappeared. I am convinced that this water will cure any ease of gravel or cystitis, and desire to make this statement for the ben-W. P. BECKFORD.

Since using the water I have had bu one attack of my old complaint, which form rly soldom left me and kept me in almost constant alsery. The severe neuralgic pains of a cutting and teasing nature peculiar to the disease, to gether with the large amount of blood I was vold ing with my urine, kept my in a weakened and de blittated condition, so that I could scarcely do my work. I must honestly say that I have not been s well or felt so strong in years as I have been this summer, and nothing else has done it except the use of the Lithia Water, as I have taken no other remedy. I have gained in flesh and strength, and feel as though I had a new base of life. I cannot express myself sufficiently enough to thank Dr. Rigir for recommending to me your most volumble water. I shall niways give it the unstinted praise which it merits. Walton Bloomer.
